Learn More About the Human Mind and Behaviour

Our Bachelor of Psychology (Hons) programme is designed to produce professionally-focused and psychologically-oriented psychologists who are prepared to address intellectual, emotional, social and psychological needs of the individuals. Graduates of this programme are prepared to coordinate the resources of the workplace and the community in order to meet the needs of clients. It also helps them to acquire the knowledge, skills, abilities and behaviours needed of a Psychologist. At UNITAR, students will be trained in four aspects: theoretical, research, industry-based project, and internship training.
